About Us

Prime First Aid and Training is a Pilbara-based, family owned and operated business, dedicated to empowering individuals and organisations in the Pilbara. We specialise in first aid, psychosocial and other industry-specific training services.

Our nationally accredited courses can be delivered at your workplace, with after-hours and weekend options available. We can also host you at our training locations in Port Hedland or Karratha. Our courses typically involve a self-paced online component, followed by a short practical session, meaning less interruption for you and your business.

We strive to create a fun and engaging learning experience, with an ability to cater courses to meet your needs. Whether you're in the mining or construction business, a community organisation, or an individual wanting to improve your skills and confidence, we'd love to work with you!

Emily Peck - Founder

With over 16 years of experience in the field as a Paramedic, Emily is known for her unwavering commitment to saving lives and helping others. Her journey into emergency medical services began with a deep desire to make a difference in her community. Over the years, she has honed her skills and developed a wealth of knowledge that has made her a trusted figure in the profession.

Emily is passionate about teaching; she brings a fun and engaging teaching style and enjoys sharing her knowledge and empowering others through the courses she delivers.

Robbie Peck – Operations Manager

Robbie brings over 15 years of project management and engineering experience in Western Australia's construction and resources sector. Now applying his expertise to the First Aid and Training industry, this experience ensures that Prime First Aid and Training delivers training solutions aligned with workplaces and community needs.

Robbie's passion for first aid education is deeply personal. In 2022, while spearfishing off the coast of Port Hedland, he survived a Bull Shark attack - thanks to those on board having first aid training, he survived. This event has driven him to empower others with the skills to make their lives and workplaces safer and more prepared.
